Dear Betty:

After receipt of your letter concerning prospects of a joint membership in ICPR, I sent off a note to Ralph Frisbie in the Office of Information Systems in the Chancellor's Office. I enclose a copy of Frisbie's letter to me on this subject. He appears to be most interested in exploring the possibility of a joint membership for the California State Colleges and equally the possibility of putting some of these data bases on line, thereby making them available throughout the entire state college system. I shall write a note to Richard Hofferbert on this subject and hope that somehow or the other we can arrange a meeting between the official representatives from the four member colleges to ICPR, Hofferbert and possibly Frisbie.

This idea seems to me to have great merit and would be of tremendous value to the California State Colleges. Hope to see you soon.

Sincerely yours,

R. G. Geisler
